PINETA NATURE RESORT

Predaia (TN), Italy

Enhancing the surrounding forest, the Pineta Nature Resort Hotel is divided into various buildings for functionality and is connected by an airy passageway. The constructive intervention entrusted to us was that of a renovation with the expansion of an existing body: the Chalet Verdes. The building consists of two sections, including a reception area, restaurant and an underground wellness centre in a circular open-air courtyard.

At the meeting point of the two areas, which give life to a V-shape, is the access to the complex, housing the hotel suites and family rooms. In addition, there is a library in the central area on the ground floor, with a large corner window overlooking the park. This detail amplifies the sense of tranquillity that the environment inspires.

The structure is wrapped together by a mesh of natural larch beams supporting the large covered terraces and wood cladding. Comfort and respect for the environment come together in the rooms, with the latest technology and natural raw materials typical of the local areas.

Wood-to-wood connections and the utmost attention to detail resulted in natural aesthetics and balance.
